² Her Reply shows service on counsel for Respondent, who filed no response, and the time for Respondent to do so has passed.

Complainant professed she would like to explain her situation with her current employer with written records, but she “would not like the [R]espondent to know about the records.”

Because there was no good cause for Complainant's failure to attend the trial, this matter is dismissed under 29 C.F.R. § 18.39(b). This has the effect of affirming the determination of the Administrator dated January 17, 2002.
