the ABA Immigration Pro Bono Development and Bar Activation Project

invite you to attend the following program and reception

on Tuesday, January 22, 2002

What Consular Officials Should Know About Recent U.S. Immigration Developments:
A Dialogue With The Consular Corps
And Legal Community

Canadian Embassy
501 Pennsylvania Avenue N.W.
Washington, D.C.
5:30-7:30 p.m.

A panel of government and non-governmental legal experts will address important recent developments in United States immigration law and policy affecting immigrants and visitors to this nation. Topics will include the immigration-related provisions of the terrorism legislation; newly issued detention standards facilitating consular access to immigration detainees; consular notification procedures under the Vienna Convention; and reform efforts for immigration detainees, including children and others. The panelists will discuss new procedures and issues of particular concern to the legal and diplomatic communities. The panel will be followed by a reception. Please be advised that the Embassy's entrance for parking is located at C Street off of Pennsylvania Avenue. The Canadian Embassy also requires photo identification for entry.

Panelists:
